Hilarie Blumenthal (Honor and Blume) has been a jewelry designer and crafts person for over 20 years. She specializes in using vintage elements such as antique diamonds, Murano glass and amber as well as recycled gold and silver to create new, modern jewelry with influences from the past. Her line includes charms and rings made from impressions of antique wax seals and family crests, hand knotted antique bead and pearl necklaces and earrings made from vintage Murano glass and gemstones. She also hand makes wedding and engagement rings incorporating antique diamonds and gems, as well as everyday luxury rings for both women and men. In addition to jewelry, Honor and Blume also has a curated selection of vintage designer clothing and accessories. As a former costume designer, her love of fashion and history plays an important role in her designs and she welcomes clients who want to create their own custom pieces by repurposing inherited jewelry. Honor and Blume opened a brick and mortar location in Nyack over 1 year ago and is excited to be a part of the Nyack retail community.
