Maura Azanedo, born in Calloa, Peru, came to the USA in her late twenties looking for better opportunities. She worked multiple jobs before landing in her career as a real estate bookkeeper in New York City. She fell in love with and married Edwin Azanedo. Shortly after, she started a family, giving birth to her only son, Tyrone Azanedo. After 25 years as a bookkeeper and a looming recession, with the help of her husband Edwin and son, Tyrone she went after her dream of owning her own business. This business was running a restaurant in the small river village of Nyack. Now going on 10 years, Maura's Kitchen has grown into a bigger and better location, thru adversity and the new challenges of COVID. She's had to adapt at every turn of the business to maintain the success that Maura's Kitchen has reached. She is a beacon of hope in the restaurant industry that many aspire to.
